

QUICK WRITE - Science

At the beginning of class spend no more than 5 minutes and answer these questions in your composition book. Answer each question on a different page. At the top of the page, put the date and the question number: Ex. 8/25/10 #1. Return your composition book to the designated place.

10/4/2010

1. To the naked eye it looks like junk, but you know it's precious: the beat-up stuffed animal you slept with as a kid, a raggedy baseball mitt you used in Little League, the tooth you couldn't bear to throw away after it fell out. Choose a beloved object from your own childhood, and explain why you feel sentimental about it or treasure it so much.

10/5/2010

2. An infinite variety of love exists. The love parents have for their children is a very different from the love of brothers for their sisters, of wives for their husbands, of kids for their pets, and so on. Choose two people or pets in your life whom you love and explain how your love for each is different.

10/6/2010

3. Despite huge advancements in recent years, women still struggle for respect in some fields. Do you think women should be able to hold any kind of job they want, regardless of danger and tradition? Or do you believe that some jobs are only appropriate for men?

10/7/2010

4. Which came first, violence in the media or a violent society? What do you think?

10/8/2010

5. "Beauty is only skin deep," the cliché claims. If you had to choose between beauty and brains, which would you pick? Which do you think would get you further in life? Which do you think would make you happier?