

QUICK WRITE - Science

At the beginning of class spend no more than 5 minutes and answer these questions in your composition book. Answer each question on a different page. At the top of the page, put the date and the question number: Ex. 8/25/10 #1. Return your composition book to the designated place.

9/27/2010

1. You have just been elected president of the United States. You must address foreign policy, terrorism health care, the military, the economy, education, the environment, and much more. What are the first 3 things you will do? Which issues are dearest to your heart? Do you think those issues overlap with the issues that are most important to the American public?

9/28/2010

2. A tradition is a special ritual shared by a group of people. These traditions might have to do with holidays, celebrations, food, seasons, or quirky family practices that have been passed down from generation to generation. Is there a tradition that you share with your family or friends? Describe it.

9/29/2010

3. Which animal do you think you resemble most closely? Consider your appearance, personality and the way you move. Then write about the animal with which you feel a kinship, explaining how you are similar in personality, characteristics and physical features.

9/30/2010

4. Mark Twain once said:

“The worst loneliness is not to be comfortable with oneself.”

What do you think he meant? Does this idea apply to your life? Conclude your entry by explaining how you feel about being alone. Do you dread it, or do you enjoy having time to yourself?

10/1/2010

5. You probably share a basic outlook on life with your friends. However, most people have a few beliefs that would shock their friends. Write about a belief of yours that annoys or surprises the people who are close to you.